

Perla Rosado

Origin Denominación de Origen (D.O.) Campo de Borja

Vineyards Señor Ruberte planted 12,500 Garnacha vines on a 5-hectare plot in 1958. The vineyard lies on the northern slopes of the Moncayo, in the north-eastern Spanish province of Aragón, where it benefits from a climate of long, hot summers and fiercely cold and dry winters, characterised by the region's infamous Cierzo wind. In the province of Aragón, which is home to some of Spain's most prestigious wineries in the appellations of Cariñena, Somontano, Calatayud and Campo de Borja, our winery was named "BEST WINERY" by the Academia Aragonesa de Gastronomía.

Variety 100% Old Vines Garnacha (bush vines)

Soils The loose, rocky soils provide excellent aeration and drainage, abound in limestone and offer very low levels of organic material. There result is Borja's characteristically small, bush-like vines, where the native Garnacha thrives.

Winemaking The grapes were selected by hand in the second half of October and fermented in temperature-controlled stainless-steel tanks. The temperature is kept to a very-low 14°C in order to preserve and develop the natural fresh, peppery-spiciness and summer berry aromas of our native Garnacha. The skin contact is just long enough to enable the wine to take on a beautifully delicate cherry-blossom hue. The wine is stored in temperature-controlled stainless-steel tanks and bottled to order.

Tasting notes This beautifully refreshing Garnacha rosé has a wonderfully vibrant nose of summer fruits and hints of fresh spice. On the palate, Perla Rosado is elegant, refined and well-balanced, with a gloriously fresh and mouth-watering finish.

Food matching Perla Rosado is the quintessential summer Rosé, and perfect for barbecues, pool parties and beer gardens. Its delicate flavours and subtle elegance go beautifully with salads, light pasta dishes, paella, grilled chicken and shellfish. Enjoy a well-chilled glass with friends.

Our Perla family originated on the Mediterranean coast, by the shores of Alicante. Our zingy, citrusy and lusciously aromatic Perla del Mar has been our customers' favourite white wine ten years in a row and our big, black Perla Negra is renowned for its deep-purple tones and glorious berry-spiciness.
